Bake Sale Donations:

Doreen King and Becky Blank will be managing the Bake Sale this year.

- Please bring your baked goods to the pavilion the morning of the show or make arrangements to drop them off ahead of time if you can't make it to the show.
- Please label your baked goods so we know what ingredients are in them, especially if they contain "NUTS." There are many people with nut allergies and patrons often ask if a baked good contains nuts.
- Make sure the baked good does not need to be chilled or refrigerated since they will be sitting on tables for several hours during the show.
- It would be helpful if you can pre-bag any cookies or similar baked goods to save time during set up at the show. Use small zip lock bags - perhaps two or three cookies to a bag depending on size - cake or brownies, perhaps one to a bag depending on size.

Thank you for your baked good donations. We appreciate any baked item and our show patrons always look forward to the large selection of items that are available at the show. Any questions please contact Doreen 412-736-4299 or Becky 724-689-2523

by Guy Davis

Near Dubois, Wyoming, The National Museum of Military Vehicles houses the largest private collection of military vehicles in the U. S. and features astounding exhibits, displays and dioramas.

The National Museum of Military Vehicles is located eight miles southeast of Dubois, Wyoming along U.S. Highway 26. It houses the largest private collection of military vehicles in the U.S. A large tank sits on the knob of a hill near the entrance to the museum's parking lot. To the right of the museum's main entrance is an expansive outdoor pavilion which shelters hundreds of military vehicles including jeeps, tanks, halftracks, canons, personnel carriers, rocket launchers, almost anything you can imagine related to military vehicles and equipment. Time spent simply walking amongst those vehicles can easily consume several hours.

A short distance from the outdoor display of military vehicles is the actual museum. Upon entering the large, modern building, you are greeted by a courteous employee who hands you an information pamphlet and is happy to answer any questions about the museum. Admission is free for veterans and nominal for non-veterans. A small theater near the museum's entrance shows a film dedicated to our nation's service members. After viewing the short film, one cannot help but exit the theater with renewed pride in our great nation and a heartfelt appreciation for its many veterans.

Over the years, I have visited some of the most impressive museums in the world including the Carnegie Museum of Natural Science in Pittsburgh, the Smithsonian in Washington D.C., museums in Europe, and the Middle-East, and have also enjoyed informative presentations at historic Gettysburg, Mount Vernon, and Williamsburg, yet none of them surpassed the quality of exhibits, displays and dioramas found in the National Museum of Military Vehicles. It is truly astounding! Perhaps even more astounding is the fact that this impressive museum was through the vision and generosity of one man who has a great love for the United States of America and an unending appreciation for the men and women who serve our nation through military service.

At the present time, the museum primarily focuses on the World War I and World War II eras. Eventually, there will be additional wings devoted to the Korean, Vietnam and Persian Gulf Wars. Near the exit of the museum is a large photograph showing an exuberant group of United States sailors celebrating the end of World War II, and across the aisle from the photo is a list of the nations that had participated in the war along with the casualties suffered by each nation. It is a stark reminder of the tremendous toll caused by military conflicts and how we as a nation need to reflect upon those who paid the ultimate sacrifice so that we can retain the freedoms which we so often take for granted. Should you one day find yourself on the road less traveled by outside the tiny town of Dubois, Wyoming, spend some time at the National Museum of Military Vehicles. You will leave that facility a better person for having been there.

2021 AACA Grand Nationals & Zenith Award Competition at New Ulm, Minnesota

By John W. Harvey

The 45-foot tall "Glockenspiel bells can be heard chiming throughout the day in downtown New Ulm, Minnesota.

There are 5,280 feet in a mile. Cindy and I have already racked up 5,280 miles in 2021 attending various AACA National events. Our most recent trip was to New Ulm, Minnesota for the Grand Nationals and Zenith Award Competition held July 22-24.

Whether you are interested in history, German culture, the US-Dakota War of 1862, or just want to check out some great beer or wine, New Ulm has attractions for everyone. One of the attractions is the Glockenspiel. Located downtown, the 45-foot tall Glockenspiel's bells can be heard chiming throughout the day and playing programmed pieces at noon, 1, 3, 5 and 6 PM.

The Glockenspiel houses 37 bells with a total weight of more than two tons. Twelve figurines depicting characters from the city's history, rotate on a circulating stage during performances. From Thanksgiving to early January, the figurines of a three-piece polka band that stand directly below one of the clock faces are replaced with a nativity scene. It is one of the few free-standing carillons of its size in the world.

The Glockenspiel was engineered and built by Schulmerich Carillons, Inc. of Sellersville Pennsylvania and constructed at a cost of $275,000. The clock tower was dedicated on May 25, 1980.

Friday featured 18 amazing vehicles selected, not only for their quality, but correctness as well. Some of the vehicles were professionally restored and some restored by the owner. They all were competing for the 2021 AACA Zenith Award. These vehicles were inside the New Ulm Civic Center.

All 18 vehicles were selected by the AACA National Awards team who reviewed the entire showfield at 2020 AACA Nationals to select vehicles worthy of the Zenith Award. This was nearly an impossible task. It was a daunting task for the Zenith Award judges to choose a winner and runner-up from the stellar field.

The Friday agenda also featured a judging school during the day and an ice cream social in the evening.

On Saturday, the showfield had a total of 109 vehicles. This was the first time that we can remember that there were zero "no-shows" for a National event. Everyone came, and I think everyone had a great time! The awards banquet was held at Turner Hall. The hall has been at the heart of New Ulm since 1856 and is more than a building. Listed in the National Register of Historic Places, it is the historic Rathskeller - the oldest bar in Minnesota. Generations have enjoyed a good time and great food.

2021 AACA Zenith Award Winner 1917 Locomobile 48 Sportif Victoria Owner: John McAlpin, Naples, NY

Locomobile, built in Bridgeport, Connecticut, introduced the Model 48 in 1911, which endured as long as the company produced automobiles. It cost a whopping $4,800 at introduction increasing to $9,600 by the end of production. Locomobile was perhaps most famous for the sportif design, considered to be the first dual-cowl phaeton. Locomobile became a part of Billy Durant's empire in 1922, building its final car in 1929.

Finished in Pacific Coral with Deep Slate Blue Gray body and fenders, this Locomobile is powered by a 550cid/82hp 6-cylinder engine and is one of three known to survive. It was designed by J. Frank deCausse of Kellner Studios in Paris and built at Farnham-Nelson Wagon Works of Brookline, Massachusetts. This car is believed to have been built for the Leggett Family (of Rexall Drug fame) and was delivered to their estate in Newport, Rhode Island. The exterior colors of the Locomobile match those used on Rexall Drug signs.

2021 AACA Zenith Award Runner-Up 1930 Ruxton Model C by Rauch & Lang Owners: Cal & Dave High, Willow Street, PA

Described as the "most turbulent tale in automotive history," the story of America's first front-drive automobile is a saga worthy of a major motion picture. Launched at the onset of the Great Depression, author Jeffrey Godshall described the Ruxton as "a superb automobile that never had a chance."

The least expensive Ruxton, the sedan, sold for $4,500, or nine times the price of a new Ford and was priced 40 percent higher than the Cord L-29, Ruxton's U.S.-based competitor. Despite the company's abrupt end in 1930, the lawsuits against it continued into the mid-1960s! In the end, for every 50 Cord L-29s built, fewer than one Ruxton was produced.

Although historical production accounts range from 60 to 500 units, more recent research and records indicate that about 96 total Ruxtons were built, 10 of which were assembled by the bankruptcy agent well after the company had folded. Of the total production, only 12 were the Baker-Raulang-bodied roadsters, of which seven, including this car, exist today.

The Ruxton is the rarest of the top 20 U.S. luxury cars registered between 1927 and 1934. Unfortunately, the Depression wiped out the front-drive innovators and there would be an historic gap of nearly 30 years before GM launched the front-drive Oldsmobile Toronado in 1966. Despite the long journey toward front-drive acceptance in the industry, today over 70 percent of the cars on U.S. roads are front-drive; it is undeniably the preferred way to move an automobile.

"Lost in the Woods" AACA Vintage Tour

by Dave and Debbie Sheetz

Making our way through the lush Tiadaghton State Forest in our 1930 Model A Ford Sport Coupe.

A view of the mountains at Hyner View State Park with some clouds.

We participated in the 2021 Vintage tour with our 1930 Ford Model A along with 34 other cars which were 1931 and older.

We arrived at the Fairfield Inn and Suites in Lock Haven on July 11. Our opening dinner was at the Lock Haven Elks. Mondays tour took us to Penns Cave and also to a tour of the Graymont Lime facility.

Tuesday we traveled to Hyner View State Park to a fantastic overview of the mountains. We then drove to the old railroad town of Renovo. From there we drove to the overlook of the Grand Canyon of Pennsylvania; then on to Wellsboro for the night.

Wednesday had us traveling through the Tiadaghton State Forest area to the Woolrich Company store. After a lunch stop we traveled to the Piper Aviation Museum. Our evening plans had us at a musical called "Yours Sincerely: A Sentimental Journey" the 58th season opening performance at the Millbrook Playhouse.

Thursday we traveled to Sugar Valley, a farming area. After a photo stop at a covered bridge we toured Schrack Dairy farm with stops at Kaufmans store, Bull Run a one room school museum, Fishers Amish Buggy shop and an Amish produce shop.

Friday we toured Snavely's Flour Mill where we saw wheat turned into flour. Leaving there we went to the Central Pennsylvania Auto Auction to see autos being auctioned off. Leaving there we were given a very informative tour of the Wayne township landfill and learned of the process of recycling. Our closing banquet was at the Restless Oaks restaurant.

We drove 335 miles in the Model A up and down some great scenic roads with no problems. We met some Great people from all over the country. We look forward to more tours in the future!

Two 1930 Model A Ford Sport Coupes parked by an old stone gristmill, which was near the covered bridge on our tour. Local citizens hope to restore this gristmill someday.

The Model A's on the Vintage Tour performed very well. The car on the left belongs to Bob Giles from Johnstown. The Model A on the right is ours.

Participating Vintage Tour cars lined up at an Amish donut stop along a tour route. We also toured an amazing Amish buggy shop that day.

Summer Picnic Pleasures!

The Western PA Region 2021 Summer Picnic took place at the Cooperstown Club Pavilion on Sunday, July 25. Around 45 members came out to enjoy a beautiful day. Post Avenue Catering provided roast pork and turkey along with corn on the cob, pasta, and other favorites. This year members were able to bring desserts to share, which resulted in a grand variety of sweet delicacies. Picnic games included: The Oreo Cookie slide, the bubble gum bubble blowing contest and the traditional water balloon toss. It was great to get together again and there was a lot of fun conversation, laughter and of course "car talk." Special thanks to John Ross, Blair, John, Sr. and Vickie Kuhns, for hosting another wonderful Western PA Region picnic.

Name That Car

by Mark Jackson

July's Car

Howard Finney was the first to correctly identify the make of July's "kiddie car" as a 1950 Studebaker. Gary Wiegand also correctly identified the Studebaker.

Raymond Lowey is often called "the father of industrial design." When he directed his design team to work on a new design for Studebaker automobiles as the 1950s approached, he told them to look at the WWII era P-38 fighter airplane. According to Lowey, "We aimed for the light, fast impression of an airplane. If we could give our cars a feeling of motion and speed, we'd have succeeded in going directly against the current trend. What better way to do it than to peel the car away from the front of the hood? The car now cuts its way through the air like an airplane."

Because they were so unique and different, the 1950 and 1951 models sold very well for Studebaker. These designs eventually earned the nickname "bulletnose." Some farmers even referred to them as "two row corn pickers". My dad once told me that these were also the first Studebakers with coil springs up front. So they rode and handled very well.

The 1949-51 Fords also adopted a smaller "bullet motif" in their grill designs.

At the time, "kiddie car" versions of the Studebaker bulletnose were produced in Italy and sold world wide. The above image is from an old post card. The message on the back is hand written in Italian.
